1	Katie and Tyler were very descriptive and helpful. They even informed me of specific stores to go to if I had forgotten any supplies from the states	7/15/2015 8:33 PM
2	The travel kit provided some basic information as to what would be needed (e.g. trowel, long pants in the field, etc.), but better information could have been provided beforehand as to how the laundry would be handled. It was made to seem like everyone's clothing would be washed all together once a week, when in actuality, each load was washed whenever needed by an individual at a cost of 5 lei (very cheap!) per load. Had this been conveyed prior, I do not believe that I would have felt the need to pack so much clothing.	7/13/2015 5:00 AM
3	All the information in the travel packet was accurate. Nothing happened that I was already aware of beforehand.	7/12/2015 11:28 PM
4	The travel kit was very complete! The only thing that bothered me is that we only had a few informations about the weekend trips. I would have like to have more informations before arriving here.	6/30/2015 9:14 PM
5	More communication about the itineraries for weekend trips would have been appreciated.	6/30/2015 2:53 PM

1	We found that even though our dig kits were very minimal in comparison to what we actually needed, the staff helped us by providing extra materials and by finding a store we could purchase anything we felt we were missing for cheap.	7/18/2015 9:20 AM
2	The actual pickup time/date was adequately conveyed, but the travel kit made it seem as though the option suggested was the only one available. It is not. For instance, there is an earlier train (around 7 pm) that arrives in Sighisoara around 8 am the following day that keeps you out of the Keleti train station in the middle of the night. I would highly suggest looking into arriving in Sighisoara a few days earlier than suggested by the travel kit (it is a beautiful town) as it made it much easier transition than getting straight off an overnight train and onto a bus to travel to the final destination.	7/13/2015 5:00 AM
3	The train/station itself was very confusing but the staff was waiting for us at the other end and made us feel very welcome.	7/13/2015 2:01 AM
4	The pickup at Sighisoara was probably the easiest part of the journey.	6/30/2015 6:33 PM
5	Pickup from the train station by bus was great. No complaints.	6/30/2015 2:53 PM

1	The Hinto is the BEST! The food is fantastic and the location is absolutely breathtaking!	7/18/2015 9:23 AM
2	Amazing service. amazing food. amazing grounds	7/15/2015 8:34 PM
3	The Hinto Panzio is absolutely wonderful! The staff is so nice and accommodating. The only issue that was encountered was trying to shower each day between arriving back from the field and dinner, as twenty some-odd people trying to shower all at once was taxing on the water system. Occasionally those on the third floor would find themselves with only cold water or even no water at all, unless everyone on the second floor took "army" showers (turning the water on only when actually being used).	7/13/2015 5:05 AM

4	The food & staff at the Hinto were amazing!	7/13/2015 4:31 PM
5	The meals (breakfast and dinner) were excellent. Pork was a staple of dinner, although it was always very good. Breakfasts were a typical European style, and delicious as well. I wish there had been an option for us to purchase meals at the hotel on weekends, however, instead of having to find food elsewhere, as sometimes there was not enough time.	7/13/2015 5:05 AM

1	The problems we had with travel were on the Budapest side of getting to Romania. Because of the language barrier, we didn't fully purchase our train tickets. But, after some massive confusion, we were able to finish purchasing our tickets on the train. In addition, some people experienced light stomach issues while adjusting to the food, but that's normal.	7/18/2015 9:23 AM
2	The Brasov trip was poorly planned	7/15/2015 8:34 PM
3	There was a problem with my train ticket, I was only given a reservation ticket and not an actual train ticket but I think that was more of a language barrier problem. Maybe something worth mentioning for future groups.	7/13/2015 2:04 AM
4	we tried to get train tickets and reserve a sleeper cart, but there was a miscommunication and we ended up only paying for the car reservation and not our tickets. we had to speak with the conductor and buy our tickets on the train after much difficulty trying to understand each other.	6/30/2015 5:21 PM
5	While everything always seemed to come together in the end, I wish there was better communication between the project staff, Zsolt, and Andre so that we (the students) were able to have more peace of mind about travel arrangements for weekend trips and return trips before we went on these trips. This is something that can be easily improved for future seasons. Overall, though, I really enjoyed the program!	6/30/2015 2:58 PM

1	Zsolt, Katie, and Tyler were really helpful when it came to identifying artifacts, remains, and possibly burial locations.	7/18/2015 9:25 AM
2	Katie took the time to teach us everything we needed to know, and even taught us career specific skill sets we would deem useful in future careers on rain days.	7/15/2015 8:35 PM
3	Katie, Zsolt, and Tyler were all very helpful and provided adequate and full instructions. They also provided help whenever required. I would work with either of the three again in a heartbeat!	7/13/2015 5:09 AM
4	The field staff was amazing! Extremely helpful and accommodating to needs that arose in the field.	7/12/2015 11:31 PM
5	Katie and Tyler were very helpful and patient with us in the field. I would have liked a bit more talk of proper trowel technique in the field, but other than that, it was great.	7/1/2015 6:28 PM
6	Since it is my first field experience, I was not very confident. I would have like to have more instructions, more strategies. Even by the third week, I am still sometimes not sure if the methods I use are correct. But when I have questions, Katie and Tyler are both always really helpfull.	6/30/2015 9:23 PM
7	The project staff were fantastic. I felt free enough to work confidently but also guided enough so that I felt on par with my peers.	6/30/2015 6:37 PM
8	Katie and Tyler OBVIOUSLY know their stuff! I loved learning from people who are actually in the field and so passionate about what they do.	6/30/2015 2:59 PM

1	Learning how to map was something I really wanted to do this summer, and Katie made sure we not only learned that, but how to profile as well.	7/18/2015 9:25 AM
2	I was able to uncover, excavate, map, and remove two full burials by myself (with help while mapping).	7/13/2015 5:09 AM
3	Katie and Tyler tried very hard to make sure we all had the same level of instruction and made sure everyone had a part in every aspect of field work and in the stations provided during lesson.	7/13/2015 2:05 AM

1	Washing remains from other sites gave us ideas on how things would be preserved at our sight. It also helped us identify bone fragments and possible pathologies/taphonomy that we might see in the field.	7/18/2015 9:27 AM
2	Good review for me	7/15/2015 8:36 PM
3	The bone washing got old so I'm glad Katie and Tyler supplemented our rain days with lectures and hands-on practice.	7/13/2015 4:33 PM
4	While some may have found this a useful and worthwhile activity (e.g. those with little to no osteological experience), I do not believe it provided any benefit to those with previous experience. I understand that the remains recovered must be cleaned so they can be further analyzed, however, I do not feel it added anything to my experience. I was quite upset each day we were told it was a rain day (which occurred 3 times), as I preferred to be in the field.	7/13/2015 5:12 AM
5	I learned so much and this specific hands on work really opened my mind to new potential career paths I wasn't thinking of before.	7/13/2015 2:06 AM
6	It allowed me to put my osteological knowledge to use.	7/12/2015 11:32 PM
7	I feel it was more valuable for those with little or no osteology experience. Those with experience, I think it was a bit redundant.	7/1/2015 6:28 PM
8	It's important to learn how to wash bone and spend time on sexing and aging the skeletons. However, I wish time had been available to analyze the material culture as well.	6/30/2015 6:39 PM
9	Because osteolabs were usually on "rain days", they always felt a little thrown together. I wish there were premade lesson plans, etc., so that the day was full and didn't feel like a throw-away.	6/30/2015 3:01 PM
10	I feel I learned a great deal about identifying bone fragments from the bone washing exercise.	6/30/2015 7:41 AM

1	We ended up having almost a whole week in the lab due to rain. But that's no one's fault. It just would have been cool to spend that time in the field.	7/18/2015 9:27 AM
2	this was attributed to the rain though	7/15/2015 8:36 PM
3	I always prefer the field. But if I have to be in the lab I'd prefer to do more lectures and learning exercises than just cleaning bones.	7/13/2015 6:31 PM
4	I can appreciate the need to find something for the participants to do on rain days, however, there has to be something better than mindlessly washing bones.	7/13/2015 5:12 AM
5	I would of liked maybe more lectures or more practical hands on work.	7/13/2015 2:06 AM
6	I wish we had a lecture by the osteo teacher	7/13/2015 12:34 AM

1	SO USEFUL!! And great overall presentation of lecture topics.	7/15/2015 8:38 PM
2	I leaned a ton from the lectures, thank you!	7/13/2015 6:32 PM
3	A bit of review because I have previous osteo experience, but I didn't mind the refresher.	7/13/2015 4:37 PM
4	Katie's lectures were well thought-out and planned and she took into consideration what the students wanted to learn about. I did find them mostly review, as I am sure all of us at the graduate level found them. However, I do understand her need to include all levels of experience and knowledge in the lectures, especially those with no prior experience.	7/13/2015 5:17 AM
5	There was a good range of topics covered in the lectures. I would have liked there to been a lecture on ethics of handling and being around remains. For example, the naming of individuals being disrespectful.	7/1/2015 6:28 PM

1	I liked that no one pretended that Anthropology was anything that it isn't. They were honest about the lack of work. Honest about the passion that has to be involved. Honest about the schooling and methods involved. It was informative and really helpful.	7/18/2015 9:29 AM
2	A little haphazard. Katie sat down and did office hours with each of us individually and I found that to be way more useful	7/15/2015 8:38 PM
3	The office hours were also very helpful to me.	7/13/2015 6:32 PM
4	Extremely helpful, I just wish some of the students asking questions would have held off on asking personal/individual questions that didn't benefit the group as a whole (like regarding their personal grad school choices or asking for specific literature to read). If they could have held their questions til the end, or asked during an appointment, we might have gotten through more beneficial questions. Overall helpful, so I thank the staff for taking the time!	7/13/2015 4:37 PM
5	I felt that the roundtable was almost purely focused on the undergraduates, and those already at the graduate level were not given much time to ask questions. However, Katie later held "office hours" individually with her students, which I felt was a much more productive and useful exchange of information.	7/13/2015 5:17 AM
6	A lot of the questions were more personal to the specific student, which was helpful but I would of liked more general questions that could benefit more students and then the personal questions saved for one on one office hours.	7/13/2015 2:07 AM
7	Individual time is better	7/13/2015 12:34 AM

1	I would definitely recommend this dig to my peers, especially if Katie and Zsolt continue to be involved. And Tyler too :P	7/18/2015 9:34 AM
2	The work was kind of monotonous, but perhaps that's to be expected of any excavation.	7/15/2015 3:20 AM
3	I would only recommend it to people that want to work with bones or medieval archaeology.	7/13/2015 6:37 PM
4	I would recommend the field school, though I would try to give them better information than was contained in the travel kit, as I didn't find it to be extremely helpful, though it gave the basics.	7/13/2015 5:37 AM
5	The program itself seemed very unorganized, but the staff (Katie, Tyler) made the experience without a doubt. If it weren't for them, I may not have enjoyed the field school near as much as I did. They are both amazingly knowledgeable and kind people who did their best to teach us as much as they could in such a short amount of time.	7/13/2015 2:16 AM
6	The whole experience was very worthwhile. All the staff were incredible and the accommodations were amazing. And it's Romania! The area and the history can't be beat.	7/1/2015 6:28 PM
7	I just think that 3 weeks is short, considering that it rained about 2 days a week.	6/30/2015 9:46 PM
8	Due to poor overarching organization (i.e. not from the project staff, but from the Archeotek program staff), I would probably not recommend this project to my peers at this time.	6/30/2015 3:11 PM

Q19 Please provide us with your thoughts on what you found most rewarding about your bioarchaeological experience on the project:

Answered: 19 Skipped: 1

#	Responses	Date
1	I think what was most rewarding about it was the fact that it is bioarchaeology - you can't do digs on human remains on a scale like this in the States. In addition, Romania is amazing. Being able to come to this part of the world and learn how the cultures in this area know, understand, and cope with death is fascinating and important. We tend to put our dead in the ground and then forget about them - here, cemeteries are visited regularly and graves are tended to on a weekly basis. So, the actual experience with human remains and the cultural experience from living and working here.	7/18/2015 9:34 AM
2	The field staff was the most amazing aspect. I don't think it would have been as amazing and informative without Katie, Tyler, and Zsolt	7/15/2015 8:41 PM
3	I feel like the hands-on nature of the project made everything that I learned there about ten times easier to learn than if I had learned about it in a classroom.	7/15/2015 3:20 AM
4	Fully excavating (finding, cleaning, mapping ect.) a grave was most rewarding about my experience. I learned a ton about bones and excavation techniques in the field.	7/13/2015 6:37 PM
5	Hands on experience working with human remains both in the field during the excavation process as well as learning a wealth of osteology knowledge i.e names of bones, articulation, ageing, sexing	7/13/2015 6:35 PM
6	I really learned a lot about bones that I did not previously know or understand.	7/13/2015 5:29 PM
7	After seeing the museum and all the work they've done, it helped me see the bigger picture and what our work in the field contributes to. I found mapping and collecting the burials the most rewarding because it meant we had completed that grave, I liked seeing the burial from start to finish. Also I learned how to map and take depths!	7/13/2015 4:44 PM
8	Katie, Zsolt, and Tyler were great to work with. Under their guidance, I feel that I was able to gain a strong understanding of excavation methods that I hope will transfer to other sites that I work at.	7/13/2015 5:37 AM
9	The field experience of excavating human remains was fantastic.	7/13/2015 3:51 AM
10	I learned a lot about hands on field work and about osteology in general. Katie and Tyler really made the experience enjoyable and taught me so much. I loved the one on one time with Katie because she really told me some great advice about what the next step for my career could be.	7/13/2015 2:16 AM
11	The experience was great! Enough burials for everyone to really enjoy the experience. The Field staff was amazing!	7/13/2015 12:37 AM
12	I found the field experience to be the most rewarding aspect. Along with working with the field staff, who genuinely cared about my future prospects in anthropology.	7/12/2015 11:36 PM
13	It helped me know what excavating is like and understanding the differences of jobs the archeologists and the lab staff do	7/4/2015 7:21 PM
14	The ability to work with your own individual(s) over several weeks was great. And doing everything from the excavating to mapping and paperwork was very good experience.	7/1/2015 6:28 PM
15	Always being considered like a team mate by everyone in the project.	6/30/2015 9:46 PM
16	The access to human remains was bar none. It simply isn't available in the states. I don't even want to pursue bioarchaeology, but I feel completely comfortable excavating burials now.	6/30/2015 6:43 PM
17	It was a great experience in a beautiful location. Everything was better than I expected it to be.	6/30/2015 5:26 PM
18	Actually excavating a grave and being able to identify the bones.	6/30/2015 3:11 PM
19	I think getting to actually excavate the remains and wash them taught me the most.	6/30/2015 7:43 AM

1	Some items in the travel kit were either incorrect or listed at the wrong amounts. It would be cool to have more of a cultural interaction with the people of Udvarhely as well. But all in all I think this field school experience was a good one.	7/18/2015 9:34 AM
2	The field trips need to be better planned. The order of events in Brasov could happen in one day. The hostel was very gross and the doors didn't lock. I would not have payed for that, I would have stayed at a nearby hotel and not wasted my money on that hostel. It smelled of urine and a mans dirty pants were hanging off my bed.	7/15/2015 8:41 PM
3	It would have been nice to have done a bit of surveying at some point.	7/15/2015 3:20 AM
4	Maybe a little better organized field trips and other things. If plans were set in stone ahead of time so we didn't find out a day before that would be better but it wasn't a terrible struggle. I would also maybe mention taking the bus into Romania from Budapest, since it is cheaper and faster. Overall Katie and Tyler made this field school amazing and deserve so much credit for how smoothly and enjoyable everything went. Thanks for everything guys!	7/13/2015 6:37 PM
5	Better information about the best way to travel to the area - the information given was vague and not entirely helpful. The salt mines field trip was perhaps unnecessary and a waste of money. Lack of communication with project head made aspects of the project and processes vague and unclear - however, the fieldstaff who we worked and lived with on a day to day basis were of the highest possible standard, without these staff members the fieldschool would be a waste of time and money.	7/13/2015 6:35 PM
6	I felt everything was adequate during my experience. Katie and Tyler were the best teachers/mentors that I have ever come to know.	7/13/2015 5:29 PM
7	With such a wide range of experiences attracted to the project, it's hard to say. I would have enjoyed some more challenging lectures but some other students with no osteo or mortuary experience would have been lost. Overall, I'd say Katie and Tyler did an astounding job given the resources and number of rain days they were dealt. I had an amazing time!	7/13/2015 4:44 PM
8	The actual field school portion was fine. I do feel, however, that the weekend trip to Brasov could have been better communicated prior to the trip occurrence. This lack of communication was not the fault of the field directors, as they had very little if any, information prior to the trip, but should have been communicated by Archeotek itself. For instance, the accommodations in Brasov were implied to be equivalent to those were had in Odorheiu, but they were far from it. An option should be provided to students as to whether they want to stay at the hostel (which I would not recommend) or if they do not, let them keep that portion of the money so they can get their own hotel/accommodations. I would also suggest that the field day the Friday of the trip be shortened a bit so that arrival in Brasov could be earlier so everyone has the opportunity to find dinner (as some of us were not able to eat that evening because no restaurants were serving food by the time we were checked in at the hostel and made it to the nearest restaurant, and we did not feel safe exploring a large city at 10pm to find one). Another suggestion would be to switch the "explore Brasov" day and the day we visited the castles, that way more shops are open in the city on Saturday and so that we could keep our luggage in the bus while visiting the castles instead of just in the lobby of the hostel.	7/13/2015 5:37 AM
9	There needs to be better communication from the archaeotek hierarchy.	7/13/2015 3:51 AM
10	The field staff could be a lot more informed about what is expected of them. Katie and Tyler did an amazing job thinking on the fly and coming up with stations and lessons for us on rain days and did as much with us in the field as they possibly could. The program itself was very unorganized, especially in travel plans, but the field staff made up for that. Also, it would of been nice to know that the bus was an option for the trip to Romania because it was cheaper and faster than the train. Maybe something to include for the next session of students.	7/13/2015 2:16 AM
11	I think 3 weeks is too short.	7/13/2015 12:37 AM
12	I had an amazing time. The field staff did an awesome job for being new to the site.	7/12/2015 11:36 PM
13	Learning more about the history of our specific dig site	7/4/2015 7:21 PM
14	I think a little more time spent on proper trowel and excavating techniques in the field would be beneficial.	7/1/2015 6:28 PM

15	Maybe having a variety of lab exercises planned for the rainy days? I really enjoyed the sexing and aging exercises, as well as working with a complete skeleton.	6/30/2015 9:46 PM
16	The only issue I had with my experience was tension between peers, which isn't something the program can change.	6/30/2015 6:43 PM
17	Better organization and communication within those in charge. The salt mine trip was not worth the time or money.	6/30/2015 5:26 PM
18	Better communication between Archeotek and the project staff BEFORE the students arrive to give the feeling of a more professional program. Extra excavations on weekends to makeup for "rain days".	6/30/2015 3:11 PM
19	In all, the field trips seemed disorganized and chaotic. The accommodations in Brasov were deplorable.	6/30/2015 7:43 AM
