1	The bus driver was a bit confused on our way to Bran Castle. We weren't able to communicate with him because he spoke only Hungarian. It was difficult to figure out when we needed to be back at the bus before heading to Poenari.	10/22/2015 8:33 PM
2	I say both because everything pretty much went smoothly. I only had problems with my connecting flight in Copenhagen. could have been avoided, airlines fault.	8/7/2015 11:23 PM
3	Please clarify in the travel packet how windy the roads are so we can be prepared and bring whatever medications we need	7/25/2015 10:44 AM

1	For individuals who have never excavated before there should have been more direction such as don't use a metal trowel near the bones, this is what to look for when getting close, this is how to create level walls and floors, etc..l	7/23/2015 6:12 PM

1	I wish there was at least a little bit of training concerning the actual process of excavating. We all adapted pretty quickly, but I feel like we were just thrown into a pit with out trowels and told to dig.	10/22/2015 8:34 PM
2	The staff was amazing but it might have been helpful to have more discussion about field techniques before starting	7/25/2015 10:45 AM
3	We really just picked up from where the last session left off, and most of us have an osteology background and previous field experience anyway.	7/24/2015 2:57 PM
4	I was under the impression that we would have had more regular lectures or analysis of bones, but having time in the field was much more important and fun	7/23/2015 6:42 PM

1	I loved this project. It was a great opportunity to work with human remains as an undergrad.	10/22/2015 9:14 PM
2	If they were interested in bioarch, absolutely.	7/24/2015 5:05 PM
3	I would give them a heads up on the packing/weekends/accommodations.	7/24/2015 3:05 PM

Q18 Please provide us with your thoughts on what you found most rewarding about your bioarchaeological experience on the project:

1	The digging methods and burials were very interesting, but my biggest takeaway was the learning about cross-cultural respect in archaeology. How to successfully and respectfully interact with people whose land (and ancestors!) you're digging up. As someone who undertook this program with no intention of actually pursuing archaeology, this was the most valuable thing I got out of it.	10/23/2015 3:11 AM
2	I think the most rewarding part was interacting with the people of the town who were excited about the project.	10/22/2015 9:14 PM
3	-	10/22/2015 8:06 PM
4	The fact that we were abroad. I learned so much from this experience. The people i met and what I could learn from each and everyone was the most rewarding.	8/7/2015 11:35 PM
5	Just getting out in the field and digging was amazing. I had no osteology background and I learned a lot about how to identify bones.	8/7/2015 11:22 PM
6	The relationship between field directors and students was perfect, we were not made to feel belittled or stupid and could carry on with normal conversation, which made asking questions and learning so much easier.	7/25/2015 10:59 AM
7	It helped me learn a lot about what I want to pursue academically down the line.	7/24/2015 5:05 PM
8	Project was well organized and explained. Working with knowledgeable field staff made learning how to work in the field very rewarding.	7/24/2015 5:00 PM
9	I found validation in that I want to pursue a career in bioarchaeology.	7/24/2015 3:05 PM
10	Learning that I loved the work as much as I did before I had any experience with it. Getting done and dirty was rewarding and made my day worth it when I went to bed at night. I'm working on joining another field school next summer.	7/23/2015 6:52 PM
11	I'm very glad that you allowed a variety of people with a variety of backgrounds. I expected to be way behind other people but i ended up learning very quickly and I felt like everyone was on the same page	7/23/2015 6:49 PM
12	The joy of the students and individuals who visited the site and enjoyed watching us work while also appreciating what we were doing.	7/23/2015 6:15 PM
13	Hands on staff	7/23/2015 8:00 AM

1	Sorry, but nothing to add. Working on the field was an amazing experience. The relentless physical exertion under the Patakfalva sun was a great experience.	10/23/2015 3:11 AM
2	I think there should be a day where we go over excavation techniques before we actually get to the field.	10/22/2015 9:14 PM
3	-	10/22/2015 8:06 PM
4	More labs? I can't really say	8/7/2015 11:35 PM
5	Maybe a day or two off if there are no rain days.	8/7/2015 11:22 PM
6	An opportunity for office hours would really help as we didnt have time this session.	7/25/2015 10:59 AM
7	More equal parts arch/ and osteo. It felt like we were being segregated and had completely different experiences with what was feeling like it was supposed to be 2 related programs?	7/24/2015 5:05 PM
8	When sending a packing list, make sure to include what type of climate, and some notes about the area being excavated (i.e, although we are in Romania, we are going to an area heavily populated by Hungarian speakers)	7/24/2015 5:00 PM
9	We need a better travel kit. Make the logistics explicit, including the possibility of taking a bus back to Budapest early and that Zsolt can make the arrangements, as well as the ride times during the Brasov weekend. Mention the overalls store and that we probably don't need to pack as much as we think. And more in lab analysis of the bones would be fantastic.	7/24/2015 3:05 PM
10	More guidance as to methodology, though we understand there is only so much that can be taught in a three week period.	7/23/2015 6:52 PM
11	The field trip to the castles was fun but all of the travel in between was way mor electric and stressful than it needed to be. The instructors didn't need to go with us, but it would have been nice to know that we would be on our own and it would have been helpful to have a schedule better planned for us. Also between the cheap (and kind of gross) hostel and a bus split between 30 people I don't understand how that trip cost $145 per person, and not even including entrance to the castles. For what we paid the accommodations should have been nicer.	7/23/2015 6:49 PM
12	An first day crash course in how to excavate for beginners	7/23/2015 6:15 PM
13	It was a great experience	7/23/2015 8:00 AM
